Second—That the Industrial Exhibition Company of 1570 contracted for the land between Ninety-eighth and 1674 streets and Third and Fourth avenues, comprising in all eight blocks of ground, beside the unopened streets and avenues. The price agreed upon was $1,700,000, of which 200,000 have been paid; that there remains due $1,500,000, which must be paid on or before February I. 1573, or the contract for the land will expire and all moneys paid be forfeited. The deed of this land has been executed to the Industrial Exhibition Company, and is held in escrow by the Union Trust Company, to be delivered whenever $1,500,000 shall be paid. Your committee have consulted with eminent real estate men as to the value of the land, and the lowest estimate placed on it, after deducting all the streets (which are as valuable for the purposes of this company as any other portion), is $1,820,000 and the streets is only alued at $2,428,000. As we understand, this is the only place of land in one location, owned or controlled by individuals, large enough for a World's Fair, lying south of 10th street, and its central location is proved by the fact that all the steam railron is running into New York have a side track on this ground. As an engineering necessity, any rapid transit railroad that may in the future be built must go within tour hundred feet of this property, if not directly upon it.
